FUN FAIR NEWS!

Thursday, June 13, 2013 - 4:30 – 7:30pm

We have had a fantastic first year at Moffat Creek Public School, and what better way to celebrate our school community than with a Family Fun Fair!

Thursday, June 13th from 4:30 – 7:30 p.m. will mark the first of what we hope to be an annual event at Moffat Creek Public School.

We have fun planned for everyone in your family, and this newsletter will bring you up to date with all of the events that will be taking place.

We would like to say a big 'THANK YOU' to our many staff and parent volunteers, student & classroom volunteers and especially our Fun Fair Committee members that are giving of their time, talents, and baking skills in support of this event!

An event of this size could not happen without YOU and we are so grateful and encouraged by the supportive and energetic community we find ourselves surrounded by here at Moffat Creek P.S.!

There is still time to lend a hand! We are still looking for donations to our Bake Sale and Cake Walk! If you are willing and able to do some baking for the bake sale or make a cake with your child for the Cake Walk, please do!

All donations will be accepted at the school on the morning of June 13th, or throughout the day before 3:00pm.

We are excited to see all of our Moffat Creek friends at the Fair! Hope you and your family can join us for the fun!

Inside Story Headline

The purpose of a newsletter is to provide specialized information to a targeted audience. Newsletters can be a great way to market your product or service, and also can create credibility and build your organization's identity among peers, members, employees, or vendors.

First, determine the audience of the newsletter. This could be anyone who might benefit from the information it contains, for example, employees or people interested in purchasing a product or in requesting your service.

You can compile a mailing list from business reply cards, customer information sheets, business cards collected at trade shows, or membership lists. You might consider purchasing a mailing list from a company.

Next, establish how much time and money you can spend on your newsletter. These factors will help determine how frequently you publish your newsletter and its length. It's recommended that you publish your newsletter at least quarterly so that it's considered a consistent source of information. Your customers or employees will look forward to its arrival.

Your headline is an important part of the newsletter and should be considered carefully.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics, but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Word offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content.

Your headline is an important part of the newsletter and should be considered carefully.

In a few words, it should accurately represent the contents of the story and draw readers into the story. Develop the headline before you write the story. This way, the headline will help you keep the story focused.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Examples of possible headlines include Product Wins Industry Award, New Product Can Save You Time, Membership Drive Exceeds Goals, and New Office Opens Near You.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer. Your headline is an important

About Our Organization...

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft includes thousands of clip art images that you can choose and import into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.
